Pastor Kaari's Kinkling

Hello Trinity! What a joy it has been to officially start as your Associate Pastor. As I'm writing this, I am about two and a half days in and haven't had the chance to meet many of you yet. I know that will change quickly with the midweek Advent service this evening, worship this weekend, and Christmas services coming.

I thought, as an introduction, I would tell you a little bit of my story- though if you'd like to hear the more in-depth version, I will also be leading an Adult Forum on January 11!

I grew up in Longmont, CO, just a little bit south of Fort Collins. I was raised by my mom, Greta von Bernuth. I imagine you might meet her at some point along the way. I'm a lifelong Lutheran, and grew up attending First Lutheran Church in Longmont, CO. It's probably not shocking to you to learn that I was very involved in church growing up. I was a faithful Sunday School attendee, participated in Confirmation classes, attended and was a leader in my youth group, and even taught Middle School Sunday School and Confirmation as a high schooler. I was a youth representative on church council, helped lead in worship, and my pastor even gave me the opportunity to help preach on Easter Sunday my senior year of high school alongside my high school sweetheart and now husband, Walter.

Most importantly in all that church engagement, I learned how to ask questions. The more I engaged in church, the more questions I had. About how church worked. About why we did the things we did. About who God was. And about how God was engaging in our lives. Thank goodness I had a pastor (Pastor Paul Judson, who some of you may know as having just retired from CSU Lutheran Campus Ministry/LuMin) who was willing to engage my questions rather than shut them down. Pastor Paul and I met for a lot of coffees and a lot of conversations. He helped me explore my questions; he taught me about different theological lenses, like the Theology of Glory (which Lutherans do not subscribe to) and the Theology of the Cross (which Lutherans do believe in!). He helped me find language for what I was feeling and experiencing as my faith butted up against some of my experiences in the world, and in how I heard other people talk about God. Through all that questioning, I began to discern God's call to me to be a pastor.

By the time I graduated from high school, I knew I was heading toward seminary eventually. I did my undergraduate degree at CSU where I majored in English with a concentration in Literature and a minor in History. During college, I participated in Lutheran Campus Ministry, and even worked here at Trinity as the FoCoLu Intern, Pastoral Assistant, and Walter and I both helped play music at the Saturday night services. After college, Walter and I got married and we moved together to Berkeley, CA where I attended Pacific Lutheran Theological Seminary.

As a pastor, I still believe that questioning is one of the most important things we can do as faithful people. When we ask questions, it means we're paying attention to our lives, to the world around us, and to how God is present in the midst of it all. A part of my call, then, is to help us all ask the right questions- to approach God and faith with curiosity and wonder- so that we can see how God is at work in our lives and our world, bringing liberation through love for all people.

I am excited to meet all of you, to see how God is working at Trinity, to ask some great questions together, and to join in God's work of liberation in this place.

With joy and anticipation, Pastor Kaari Nieuwlandt

301 FP JET ECO Tip of the Month

Experts say the air dry option is the most underrated dishwasher setting, and it can save you a significant amount of energy and money if used regularly. This is because the heat dry option requires a lot of electricity to maintain the high temperatures to dry dishes quickly. Some dishwashers automatically apply the heat dry setting, so you may be using heat dry without realizing it. Check your dishwasher selections before starting each cycle, and if heat dry is applied, unselect it to air dry your dishes instead. While air drying dishes takes more time, White says it's the most energy-efficient setting.

"The normal cycle with an air dry option will almost always be the lowest energy usage," Meera White, senior product marketing manager at Whirlpool Corporation, says.

If your dishwasher comes with an eco mode, that's another setting experts recommend using for energy efficiency. When it's combined with the air dry setting, each load has maximized efficiency.

The Joint Ecological Team (JET) meets as needed to plan educational events, bike to work day, volunteer opportunities, and advocacy. If you have any suggestions for future Eco-Tips, please email them to Amanda in the office. Our next meeting is Tuesday, January 27 at 5:30 pm. Be sure to check out the JET table and bulletin board in the NW corner of the Fellowship Hall!
